Specifying Alternative Baseline Forecasts Overview

By default, Forecast Pro generates a statistical forecast and then allows you to add overrides to this “baseline” forecast to create the final forecast. There may be times where you wish to use an alternative forecast as your baseline forecast.

In this lesson you will learn how to specify alternative baseline forecasts both on an item-by-item basis and for groups of items.

If you are using a Collaborator license: specifying baseline forecasts is not supported.

Click on the right arrow to proceed with this lesson.